Market research

GREAT LAKES BY DESIGN is a design publication intended for an affluent and upscale consumer audience throughout major markets in the Great Lakes region.

Although the affluent and wealthy consumer may be defined by a high-accruing annual income or based on a high net worth, the wealthiest 10 percent of all U.S. households now have a minimum net worth of $1 million and comprise nearly 12.2 million households in the country, according to the Federal Reserve Board.

In the American Affluence Research Center's Fall 2015 survey on the wealthiest 10 percent of U.S. households, the participants represented consumers with an average annual household income of $291,000; an average net worth of $4.1 million; and a primary residence valued at nearly $1.45 million.

Based on the 2015 survey, AARC estimated the affluent consumer segment represented a buying potential of about 2.3 million vehicles, 2.1 million remodeling projects, 2.2 million cruises, and 659,000 vacations homes.

Some of the major expenditures affluent consumers planned on comprised areas, such as: vehicles, remodeling projects, cruises, powerboats or sailboats, vacation residences, and primary residences. The AARC's survey also indicated a majority of affluent consumers plan to spend at least the same amount on domestic vacation travel, casual and upscale dining, entertainment and recreation, home furniture and furnishings, and major home appliances as they did in the previous year.

Other products and services consumers plan to spend the same amount on comprise designer and non-designer apparel, fine jewelry and watches, camera equipment, and collectibles, art, and wine.

While purchasing patterns differ slightly between those with an income of at least $200,000 and consumers with a net worth of $8 million or more, which represents the wealthiest one percent of households in the country; spending on vehicles, remodeling, and cruises were among the top major expenditures.

The U.S. Census Bureau's CPS 2015 Annual Social and Economic Supplement indicated the household-income segment with an annual income of at least $200,000 is more likely to be within the 35-to-64 year age group. Nearly 1.5 million householders in the U.S. with an income of $200,000 or more are between the age of 35 and 44-years-old; 2.1 million are between the ages of 45 and 54-years-old; and an additional 1.7 million are within the 55-to-64 age group.
